GLOBAL REACH

International presence through a unique and well-thought-out plan to accommodate and meet the demands of our clients on a world-wide scale.

Having developed strategic alliances throughout the Eastern and Western Hemispheres, our firm, through the leadership of Ray Prada, our Director of International Transactions, is advantageously positioned to respond to world-wide challenges and opportunities. South Florida and Miami's position as the financial capital of the Americas, and the unique links between South America, Europe, and the Far East sets the tone and challenge of our ideals.

In response to the unique challenges and opportunities of our home state, we have made coalitions with experts in international affairs from all areas of practice to provide an experienced, cohesive and coordinated legal representation across international borders. Our central geographic position in the gateway to Latin America obviously focuses our international practice towards the Caribbean and Central and South America, although we represent clients throughout the world. Our firm has the required expertise to provide our sophisticated clients with superior service. Our law firm can assist the needs of medium to large corporations, wealthy individuals, private investors, in addition to the specific needs of individuals and their families.
